PROPOSED CHANGES TO WIRKSWORTH ROAD:

LOWER DERWENT FLOOD RISK MANGEMENT STRATEGY

As part of the Environment Agencies management of flood risk for the River Trent, the third largest river in England, the Environment Agency is looking at ways in which it can manage associated flooding along its tributaries including the Lower Derwent which passes through Duffield. Their suggestions for Duffield include maintaining existing defences, increasing flood warning participation and developing a Blue Corridor along which land use and land management activities will be will subject to change. This strategy will restrict land use along the blue corridor for development, and will encourage the development of wetlands and other activities which assist with flood risk. If you would like to take part in the consultation on the proposals to deal with flooding in your area, please look at the environment agencies website at <http://environment-agency.gov.uk/yourenv/consultations/2124263/?lang=e> to find out details of where you can view the documents. An emails copy is available from the Parish Councils, and you can obtain this by contacting us through our website.
